

Sustainable Energy for All Conference - Lisbon, Portugal 2018

The Forum was all about innovation and action in the global sustainable energy movement. The 2 day conference and market place fostered new partnerships and ideas, investment and action towards securing clean, affordable energy for all. The main theme of the whole conference was Leaving No One Behind.

Brahma Kumaris represented by Golo, Sonja and Abhishek were invited to the conference as partner of the SHINE campaign. SHINEs main work is to secure safe, clean, and affordable energy in order to break the cycle of poverty.

The Forum was located in a historical venue Convento de Beato, an old monastery from the 15th century.

The conference started with a video message from the UN Secretary General and powerful wake-call by the Director Rachel Kyte. She asked everyone to be careful with critical decisions that need to be taken in the near future. She emphasized said that she has big hope to achieve energy access for all are due to this gathering of 1000 people from all over the world.

Preparation: Director of SHINE, Lisa Jordan, discussing the conference with Golo.

Brahma Kumaris main engagement took place on the second day. The SHINE campaign had a 15 minutes presentation in the main plenary where different partners were invited to present their commitments to renewable energy. Lisa Jordan, Director of SHINE first introduced Mr. Per Hegggenes from IKEA Foundation who explained why they support the SHINE campaign: the combination of Faith, finance and philanthropic partners working with clean energy can secure that their funds reach the poorest communities. Next was Golo, who introduced BKs activities in the field of renewable energy, and our commitment to continue, expand and share our work with clean energy. He emphasized the spiritual principles underpinning the work in clean technology. The presentation ended with commitments from David ten Krode, Oikocredit and Fletcher Harper, Green Faith.

Afterwards SHINE arranged for a press conference. Everybody shared their commitments in detail and answered questions from the press.

Press conference participants from the right: Golo Pilz, Brahma Kumaris; Lisa Jordan, SHINE; Per Heggnes, IKEA Foundation, David ten Krode, Oikocredit and Fletcher Harper, Green Faith.

Later Rev. Fletcher Harper of Green Faith hosted the SDG Live Interview called Faith and Finance. Sonja participated on behalf of BK sharing the story how Brahma Kumaris got engaged in renewable energies. She underlined the value of equality behind creating clean energy for all and the principles of sharing and serving in running our organization.

During the Forum the BK team could meet individuals and organizations amongst them:

Rachel Kyte, Director of Sustainable Energy for All;
Upendra Tripathy, Director General, International Solar Alliance in India,
Kenneth Amatoeng, Director of Abibimann Foundation in Ghana,
"Love for Life" an NGO based in Berlin.

The Forum ended with a Workshop in the 15th century "Palace Xabragas" arranged by the SHINE campaign. Golo participated in the Champion Solutions dialogue circle together with Lisa Jordan and others. Sonja participated in the Building Human Capacity dialogue.

It has been two very worthwhile days at the Sustainable Energy for All Forum. Deep thanks to the Lisbon centre for providing practical help and spiritual support for the conference.

Brahma Kumaris center in Lisbon

Website of the Forum for videos: <http://seforallforum.org/program>

Sustainable Energy For All youtube channel: <https://www.youtube.com/user/se4allsefa/feed>

The SHINE Campaign: <https://www.shineinvest.org/>

Brahma Kumaris Environment Initiative: www.eco.brahmakumaris.org