We consider spirituality as the compass which wakes-up and guides our conscience. At the same time, it inspires us and it makes us recognize the qualities that lie deeply in our being. Such qualities are needed today more than ever, to go through sudden challenges and changes without losing our inner well-being and happiness.

We can live using human capabilities, but other than that, we can make use of the abilities that are deeply in our being.

To face today's complexity, two aspects are to be considered: the magic of time with its transformative power and the energy of God's power.

The meeting will take place in the Brahma Kumaris Retreat Centre outside Delhi, in India.
