

Mike George – “Being Yourself”, Harmony House Leicester

Saturday 8th November 2014, 2pm-5pm.

This was Mike George’s first visit and talk at Harmony House (HH) since its opening. With his rock star like status in the BK world of lectures and talks, it was inevitable that the hordes of fans would come to pay homage to one of the Yagya’s more seasoned performers. So it proved that 220 fans came to listen, nod, laugh and delight in his every word and gestures.

The anticipated excitement of joy in the incoming fans were equally welcomed by Harmony House’s meet and greet team of loving and smiling faces. With time to relax, chat, register for future events and visit the book shop, visitors were able to appreciate and savour the unique atmosphere of Harmony House. The vibrations in the foyer are such that visitors did not want to move from this magical area. With gentle persuasion from ushers and meet and greet team, the guests slowly meandered to the Auditorium.

MC Sister Carolyn, from Derby, welcomed the audience and went through the customary house rules before introducing and welcoming Mike onto the stage.

Sitting on a bar stool, reminiscent of Frank Sinatra, he delivered one of his finest and strongest performances. With a three hour slot, the audience certainly got their money’s worth. Not only did the audience listen but were actively encouraged to nod and interact with him. After 1½ hours of performance, there followed an interval of 20 minutes of light refreshments. It’s the wonder of HH’s army of servers that so many were served in so few a time. With military precision and execution, the serviceable hand soldiers served all the guests with enthusiasm and love.

Fully refreshed the second part of the performance began with an interactive workshop. Individuals were asked to score between 1 and 10 of how quickly they could overcome the seven Ps (Position, Power, Pay, Possessions, Partner, People and Prestige). Mike certainly knows how to work the crowd and there followed a quick fire feedback from the audience. The stage programme drew to close with a silent meditation commentary from Mike for everyone to absorb the peaceful atmosphere and to re-connect with their inner self. Sister Carolyn closed the stage programme by thanking everyone and Mike for their attendance.

Afterwards there was an opportunity for guests to soak up the vibrations of HH foyer, browse and purchase items from the Book Shop. Mike kindly offered to sign any of his books purchased. Some 60 of Mike’s books were sold and autographed. The Book Shop had one of its best days, recording record sales in a variety of items since Harmony House opened. Shortly afterward Mike left the building and the evening drew to a close.

Harmony House is fast becoming a regular fixture on the BK tour list. If this is what has been achieved in 3 months what will the next 3 months and beyond hold, only Baba and Drama knows.
